

I Ever Never

If I ever never felt so beautiful to anyone but you,
I could be close to the truth.
If you ever never felt quite good enough for anyone but me,
you could believe in the you that I see.

A dream, a dream of you that led me to you
For once to forge the right course and listen to the source.

If I ever never felt so wonderful the way I feel right now,
I wouldn't need to know how.
If you ever never felt so moved before the way you're moving me,
you would feel how you're feeling to me.

At last to find my place within your grace,
I've found the missing part of my broken heart.

If I ever never felt complete before the way I feel today,
I wouldn't know what to say.
If you ever never felt alone again the way you've felt before,
We could be all alone together in this world.
